Cathy Foes introduced Lori Sondgeroth, Emergency Response Coordinator at the Bureau/Putnam/Marshall County Health Department. Lori also serves as the Unit Leader for the local Medical Reserve Corps (MRC). The MRC is a volunteer group, and there are currently only 26 volunteers on the list. In a scenario, if there is a tornado in Malden, the MRC would be contacted, and anyone available would help to search for food and shelter for anyone who lost their home. Disaster kitchens and shelters are the biggest needs. Support staff volunteers are needed, and this does not require any type of license or past experience in the health field; it is simply someone who wants to help. Volunteers can be "all in" and go through training and help in other areas or states, or they can help out with hours and situations as they choose. In the past, the MRC has had nurses give H1N1 and Covid vaccines, and there has been clean up after floods and tornadoes. Other reasons to activate the MRC would be a pandemic, major straight line winds, transportation mishaps (train derailment, anhydrous spill, etc.), a national disaster or a terrorism event. Lori's goal is to establish a core group of volunteers she can call and say "help is needed" instead of contacting each person in the group if see if they can help and what they can do. The MRC works with the Red Cross, IEMA, and IDPH. A question was asked about funding, and Lori noted there is a federal grant. MRC Strong awarded Illinois $2M to be spread across all counties. If anyone is interested in signing up or getting more information, they are encouraged to contact Lori directly at (815) 872-5091 Ext. 114 or by email at lsondgeroth@bpmhd.org.

What is our grant model designed to do? Our grant model is designed to produce sustainable results that align with The Rotary Foundation's priorities and the areas of focus, engage members, and deepen their connection to Rotary. This means we: focus our service efforts where they'll have the greatest impact by addressing genuine needs that are relevant to communities; offer program options to help people achieve both local and global goals; simplify Foundation processes to help more people take part; give people more decision-making power at the club and district levels to increase their commitment; communicate clearly about our work to enhance Rotary's public image.

The Rotary Foundation is continuing to make a difference in our world!
